LIMITATIONS ON BACK COPIES!

It is important that subscribers keep complete files of the magazines we index because it is impossible to maintain a large supply of all these at The Methodist Publishing House. A service like that would be so expensive it would necessitate raising the prices of their periodicals.

HOWEVER---

There are plenty of back copies, except that of February 1959, of THE PERIODICAL KEY available at 50¢ each so new subscribers may complete the index and improve the service they get from this educational tool.

IF I WERE --- CHAIRMAN OF A COMMISSION ON EDUCATION

I would be interested in every aspect of the church school---its curriculum, its staff, its space, its equipment---to see that all its activities would be carried on effectively and to the glory of God. I would, of course, be concerned with solution of problems when they arise; but, I would be much more concerned with avoiding these problems by an understanding of the philosophy of Christian education under which we would operate and what is necessary to conduct the church school in keeping with this philosophy.

At the outset I would wish to have presented to the commission a philosophy of Christian education. This might be prepared by a commission member who would use THE PERIODICAL KEY to find articles from which to draw up a discussion-prompting statement. The discussion to follow should culminate in the development of a philosophy of Christian education which we would expect to use as the basis for our particular church school.

In the light of this philosophy we would want to evaluate our church school carefully. Help in evaluation can be found in many of the periodicals indexed in THE KEY and through its use these may be found speedily. This evaluation experience would show us our strengths and our weaknesses and lead naturally into the development of specific goals for our group. An initial set might be prepared by an individual or small committee to present to the commission for discussion. Here, also, THE KEY may be a guide to statements of goals by others which can help in developing our own.

Having established a basic philosophy, looked at ourselves critically, and developed our goals, our next step would be implementation. How would we achieve our goals? The suggestions of others, again found quickly with the help of THE KEY, may be a starting point. Commission members, searching out helpful material, could report on various aspects of the church school, saving the time of the group for deciding exactly which methods we would use to reach our goals.

As chairman, I would try to be familiar enough with THE KEY to spot articles which would be of value in solving problems as we go along as well as during this laying of groundwork. One value in such commission activity would be the necessity for members to read in our Methodist magazines, reading they might not otherwise take time to do.

Yes, if I were chairman of a commission on education, I would use THE PERIODICAL KEY in planning and carrying out a vital program of Christian education in my church.
